

Review of: "Exchange Rate Pass-Through and Inflation on Unemployment in Nigeria"

Muhammad Nadir Shabbir¹

¹ Central University of Finance and Economics

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Greetings, Author(s),

I really appreciate the well-written paper that you turned in. In my opinion, the reading of this work will provide an additional insight into the matter that was covered in the previous paper. In spite of everything, there are a few minor corrections that need to be made, which are as follows:

1. Please make the title of the paper appropriate (the study region, country, or sampled area can be reflected there), so that it will be interesting to read and appealing to the audience.
The abstract needs to be clear, simple, and well ordered. Kindly rephrase the entire abstract so that it conforms to standard format. Please provide the most important empirical findings from the paper as well as any significant policy recommendations that are based on the results of the study.
2. There are a number of typos as well as problems in grammar and spelling. Complete a revision of the entire document. It would be to your advantage to have a specialist from an English-speaking country look over it once it has been edited.
3. In the opening, the author (or authors) should provide a clearer picture of the research gaps.
4. The literature review for the theoretical component is moving at a glacial pace. It ought to be properly organized and have a strong connection to the goals of the research. Please cite several recent works that are pertinent to your subject area based on the suggestions made below.
5. A more theoretical and well-organized approach is recommended for the conceptual framework. Construct this section in the appropriate manner.
6. The methodology section looks to be very lengthy and has some ambiguity to it. In the treatment area, please be as specific as possible regarding the data curation approach. In particular, the Model specification needs to be stated in a clear and concise manner; otherwise, the value of this article is called into question. In addition, the manner in which variables have been obtained for this paper needs to be presented in a clear and concise manner along with the appropriate references. Furthermore, the reason that these particular statistical tools have been utilized for this paper needs to be mentioned in a clear and concise manner along with the relevant references.
7. The results sections are nearly acceptable. In addition, tables and numbers might be presented in a manner that gives the impression of being more academically credible.

The discussion portion ought to be concise while still covering all of the relevant ground. It should be critically reviewed with regard to the fundamental findings, and there should be adequate support from the literature. The findings have to be backed up with evidence from past research. Please cite some recent publications that are pertinent to our discussion.

8. In conclusion, you should begin by mentioning the most important findings. After that, you should give certain policy recommendations that are based on the findings of the study. None of the references have been written in an accurate manner. Reference ought to be original and not conform to the journal's guidelines in any way.