

Review of: "Land Size Class Wise Growth of Crop Diversification Index: A Case Study From Murshidabad District of West Bengal"

Sihle Pokwana¹

¹ Rhodes University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of the paper is quite interesting. The introduction starts off well; however, I am concerned that the references used are old, while some paragraphs do not have any. The introduction needs to be supported by a lot of literature from similar studies that also check the topic on global contexts, then go down to national. Also, the end of the introduction does not give enough justification for the need of the study; I think going more into the literature would assist with a good justification.

Moreover, the discussion does not compare the study with supporting or contradicting results of other similar studies; it basically just discusses the results of the study, which is basically then just giving results and not necessarily a discussion. A good discussion is also supposed to compare the study with others to give a holistic view of the topic.

My main concern is that there was not enough literature reviewing done for the paper.