

Review of: "Solving Pallet loading Problem with Real-World Constraints"

Mevlut Savas Bilican

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

As a project report, it is well written but not so clear and needs to be supported by some visual materials.

Introduction part should be improved to give a better understanding for the reader.

The authors opted for Heuristic method since the problem is NP-Hard. The mathematical models is said to be appropriate for relatively small size problems. I believe This should be clarified depending on the pallet capacity.

Literature review must be enhanced.

As I said, Although it is a project report, the contribution made to the literature should be explicitly explained, if there is any.