Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript requires significant revisions in certain sections, including the introduction, materials and methods, as well as results and discussion. Additionally, there is a need for further improvement in the English language throughout the document.

What does this research article offer (methodology, data) to the readers of other research areas? Elaborate in the manuscript.

The transferability of the research findings and applied methodologies should be discussed in a paragraph. Is this an isolated case study or generally applicable to other systems?

The references need to be updated.

The results for the train/validation/test scores should have a deeper analysis.

What did the authors do to prevent data leakage? There is no discussion on data leakage.

The conclusion section needs to be rewritten in the form of a paragraph.

The abstract does not show the novelty of the work.
