Firstly, I would like to thank the editor for inviting me to review the article titled "A Review of the Processes and Procedures of Road Traffic Accident Mortality Data Collection in Zambia." In this review article, the authors provided a thorough review of the challenges related to completing RTA mortality data collection. While the study successfully outlined detailed reasons for these challenges, there are two major deficiencies in the article that make it unsuitable for publication in its current format:

1. Please provide a list of consultants in a supplementary appendix, detailing their roles and explaining why they were chosen to consult on this project.
2. In the discussion section, it is important to analyze the results obtained and compare them with data from other countries. Additionally, discussing the approaches taken by other countries to overcome similar challenges would enhance the quality of your discussion section. Your discussion in this format is just a reworded version of your results.

Best regards
