

Review of: "[Review Article] Excessive Aluminum in Soil"

Jiwoo Han

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article addresses a very important topic, and the author has made a great effort. However, I find some scope for improvement in the article. Please consider my suggestions:

Introduction Clarity: Ensure that the introduction clearly sets the stage for the review, emphasizing the unique perspective or contribution compared to existing literature. This will help readers understand the specific focus and significance of the review.

Incorporate Recent Research: Update the references with recent literature, as some reviewers have noted that older citations are prevalent. Including recent studies will enhance the relevance and comprehensiveness of the review.

Enhanced Abstract: Improve the abstract by providing more detailed information about the hypothesis, experiments, findings, and the significance of the research. This will make the abstract more informative and attractive to readers.