Dear editor,

Thank you for giving me this opportunity to review the manuscript entitled: "Examining the Impact of Green Finance on Carbon Emissions in India through Energy Consumption Optimization". The research questions are very interesting. Although the authors have clearly outlined the research background and the significance of the study, some shortcomings are very clear;

First, the authors need to support the research question with national environmental statistics and compare them with international environmental statistics.

Second, the literature review part is missing. I suggest to the authors that they establish a literature review section highlighting the existing relevant studies and identify the research gaps that the present study aims to fill in.

Third, the discussions for the obtained findings are insufficient. The authors need to discuss their findings from both theoretical and policy viewpoints.

Fourth, what are the advantages of the utilized methods over the other related ones?

Fifth, authors may provide some prospects for future research by identifying some limitations of the present study.

Best wishes
