Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The abstract must contain an introduction, research objectives, methods, results, and conclusions. However, this manuscript does not contain this.
2. The author explains about plants that could be used as medicine in ancient times. However, the author has not proven that these plants have the same effect today in the literature. The explanation regarding this is not yet clear; how much is IC50, and how much is CC50?
3. Regarding materials and methods, the author does not explain in detail how to study the literature, year limits for the literature used, etc. I think this should be clear.
4. There are several images that do not have citations; where did the author get them? Some images were also obtained from Wikipedia; can Wikipedia be used as scientific literature material?
