

Review of: "SAM: A Language for Education"

Boumediane Mounia

Potential competing interests: well done . Good continuation

SAW: Social activity method is the focus of this article. It aims to develop a sociological language taking into account a set of variables: spaces, gender. The writing is well structured, and the problematic is well transposed. It will be further interesting to argue more about SAW by presenting brief reviews and argumentations about this method.

Otherwise, congratulations on this article. Wish you good continuation.
