

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Wound Dressing Material

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Wound Dressing Material. NCI Thesaurus. Code C42769.

The material used for protecting the wound site from external factors that disrupt healing and cause infection and pain. Effective dressing protects and manages the microenvironment of the healing wound. Management of the wound environment includes consideration of moisture, temperature and the presence of pathogens.