

Review of: "The Global Impact on Health of Dental Infections and Antibiotic Resistance:A mini Reveiw"

Rafeef Abdul-jabar<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Basrah

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Primarily, I need to thank the author for choosing this very important subject for all people and for all ages – that's dental and gum infections. These infections can happen to everyone, and there is a real requirement for further community awareness of how to prevent these kinds of infections. Also, if an infection is happening, how to use antibiotics or any drugs in a proper way to minimize the microbial resistance. But there is something the author didn't mention about the perfect ways to solve this problem, and also what about avoiding using too many antibiotics by using herbal products?