

Review of: "Teaching Mathematics with Creativity"

Hendri Theron¹

¹ University of the Free State

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Very interesting article. I favored the butterfly effect, and it worked also very well in this article. The concern I have is that the authors did not mention the grade of teaching. I am sure the level of creativity for the foundation phase will differ from the secondary level.

Creativity is also very wide and could perhaps be narrowed down to be more specific.

Well done and thank you.