

Review of: "Unlocking Success in NGOs: The Power of Servant Leadership"

Rofiq Noorman Haryadi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The introduction of the article is good, but it needs more details about the types of projects and leadership styles in NGOs. The methodology and analysis section is too lengthy and should be summarized. The article also needs to include hypotheses for the interaction effects between the described variables. However, the findings, discussion, and recommendations have been presented well by summarizing the main findings and providing specific recommendations for future research