

Review of: "The Efficacy of Desmopressin and Imipramine in Retaining the Instilled Suspension in the Bladder"

Harun Uçmak¹

¹ Independent researcher

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Although this study measured the differences in urinary retention from desmopressin and imipramine injection, there is very weak mention of this issue causing bladder cancer. This causes the article to deviate from the main topic. It is also noticeable that the effects of the 'Ketamine/ Xylazine' combination on smooth muscles are not mentioned. I think that these issues should be considered.