The structure of the research paper is not in the underlines of the journal paper and should be improved with the clear understanding of research problem and its solution along with concrete validation.

1. The abstract is not written up to the mark as a academic journal paper should be.
2. The introduction of university where the work is probably done or analyzed should be in a separate acknowledgement section rather than in abstract.
3. Lack of research gap and literature review can be seen in the paper.
4. In introduction, the problem should be specifically written and in result and discussion section it should be thoroughly justified.
