

Review of: "Efficacy of Anogeissus leiocarpus as a Therapeutic Agent for Some Pathogenic Bacteria"

Priscila Lima Sequetto¹

¹ Universidade Federal de Juiz de Fora

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article title is clear, informative, and reflects the content of the article. The abstract provides a concise and complete overview of the study and includes the main objectives, methodology, results, and conclusions. The introduction contextualizes the research problem well, and the justification for the study is clear and well-founded. The research objectives are clearly defined, relevant, and well outlined. The literature review is comprehensive and up-to-date and covers the main works relevant to the topic. The methodology is clearly described, and the techniques and procedures used are suitable for answering the research questions. The steps are detailed enough that other researchers can replicate the study. The results are presented in a clear and organized way. There is appropriate use of tables, graphs, and figures. The results are interpreted appropriately and compared with existing literature. The limitations of the study are acknowledged and discussed appropriately. The conclusion is consistent with the results presented and contributes to the advancement of knowledge in the area.