

Peer Review

Review of: "Humanity in a World Without Empathy: Medical Professionals and a Holistic View of the Human Being"

Patricia Beck¹

1. Institut für Gesundheit und Soziales, Fachhochschule für Oekonomie und Management (FOM), Germany

It is an interesting contribution, but it lacks scientific sources and a theoretical-conceptual categorisation of key terms such as “empathy”, “transculturality”, and “spirituality”. There are different approaches here within the research, and the author should therefore explain these better.

It would also be an added value to substantiate the content with current studies.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.