

Review of: "Prednisolone Induced Gingival Enlargement: A Rare Case Report"

Aras Erdil¹

¹ Usak University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thanks for your hard work. The authors aimed to present a rare case report about prednisolone-induced gingival hyperplasia. The abstract and other sections of the report are well structured. In terms of clarity, the report was found to be quite understandable, and its differences from the existing literature were sufficiently emphasized.

-Under the section Case Report, please provide the brand information (company, city, and country names) of Novolase.

- Please provide the proper citation style for the Boenkamp classification under the Case Report section.

Due to my review, the current case report can be published without further modifications.