After reviewing the article proposed for publication, I found the following: The topic of the article is exciting. The title of the research is well-matched and related to the work done. In general, the abstract, introduction, and writing of the paper need further improvement. The manuscript needs Nomenclature. From a scientific point of view, this paper presents ideas similar to those in the references. The formulation is not innovative, and the idea used is similar to that in the literature and many sources. The manuscript needs a flowchart to illustrate the idea of the work. The references are insufficient and need to be up-to-date. I recommend making the required amendments
