Thank you for the opportunity to review this article. Follow my considerations:

Introduction:

- Please provide compelling reasons for carrying out the current review.
- In the following sentence: "Studies have been conducted regarding the effectiveness of telerehabilitation in improving balance but have shown inconsistent results," what were the results of the studies?
- In the following sentence: "This study aims to systematically review articles that explore this topic in order to determine the success of balance training in telerehabilitation and the factors that contributed to it," I suggest rewriting this sentence to clarify the study's aim. What do you mean by success?
