

Review of: "Precipitation and Temperature Trends over the Lake Tana Basin, Ethiopia"

Gerardo Núñez-González¹

¹ Universidad de Guadalajara

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article shows an up-to-day literature review for temperature and precipitation in the Lake Tana basin, Ethiopia. More than original research, the report did documentary research. The article needs a deep discussion of the results. The differences between the results of the consulted research works need to be argued according to the period used in each research or the statistical technique used in the calculations.