

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Progressive supranuclear palsy-progressive non-fluent aphasia syndrome

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Progressive supranuclear palsy-progressive non-fluent aphasia syndrome.

ORPHA:240112

PSP-progressive non fluent aphasia (PSP-PNFA) is an atypical variant of progressive supranuclear palsy (PSP; see this term), a rare late-onset neurodegenerative disease. Unlike classic PSP (Richardson syndrome) patients present with an isolated speech production problem years before developing other motor features of PSP.