I would like to congratulate the author for her effort in preparing this paper. Here are some development suggestions: The abstract is very limited and needs to be developed. The author did not mention the methodology used, the written results are few and do not cover the objectives of the study, and the author did not mention the recommendations or suggestions of this research.

The methodology section is not useful at all. It does not explain how the study was conducted, but it is general. How did you verify the credibility and dependability of the results of the qualitative study?

The results and discussion are very short. The benefits of qualitative research are that it allows for a deeper understanding of the topic under study, which is not achieved here.
