

Review of: "[Research note] Semantic Systems Theory"

Hebatullah R. Younes¹

¹ Sinai University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The approach adopted by the author is new, the idea is unique and innovative, and it was written efficiently, relying on appropriate references.

Although, there are some points that need to be modified to convey the idea well and achieve the goal of the research:

- A more appropriate abstract should be given in the research abstract, as it is considered insufficient.
- There is no sequence to explain the main issue related to the topic and the motivation for choosing the idea, even what was presented to address it through your research. This sequence should be articulated more clearly and logically to communicate the idea.
- We need some case studies to convey the idea better.