

Review of: "Perception of Biodiversity versus Connection to Nature: Which Can Influence Wildlife Product Consumption in Vietnam?"

Elizabeth Petersen

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is an interesting paper with high relevance to policy makers in Vietnam and beyond. It is well written with some minor typos. Some minor suggestions for change is to indicate in the hypotheses whether variables are expected to be positively or negatively associated, and what “mediate” means. The paper would benefit from a description of the reliability index and inter-rater reliability and the implications for each variable. Overall, a very interesting read.