The article focuses on current issues, providing important information for academics and others.

There are aspects to improve:

- You shouldn't assume that people understand acronyms.
- The abstract should be improved. It should mention methodology and conclusions;
- the introduction contains a lot of text with no bibliography;
- you should explain the relevance of your study;
- for such a long article you have few bibliographical references;
- I advise you to demonstrate your results and conclusions graphically.

Congratulations on your commitment and work. I look forward to reading the latest version of your work.
