

Review of: "Flood Prediction Using Artificial Neural Networks: A Case Study in Temerloh, Pahang"

Muhammad Jamshed Abbass¹

¹ Wroclaw University of Science and Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is quite interesting. However, more relevant information on the data sets and their processing could attract many readers to the article. Must state the novelty clearly and how it is different from other similar duties at the end of the introduction section. The details about learning algorithms, learning rate, and activation functions could be a little more elaborate.