

Review of: "Women in Slum, Risking Their Safety to Access and Usage of Basic Sanitation Facilities-A Literature Review"

Benbella Dektar

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is still very weak in the methodology section. It is still not clear whether this paper was a document review or a cross-sectional study with 6663 study participants. They still do not indicate which method of sample size determination they used to arrive at the 6,663 people.

Kindly advise the authors to read my first review so that they can strengthen the quality of the paper.