

Review of: "Challenge in Old People Care in Nursing Homes during COVID-19 Pandemia: Role of Nurses"

Lori-Ann Sacrey¹

¹ University of Alberta

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Challenge in Old People Care in Nursing Homes during COVID-19 Pandemia: Role of Nurses

This is an interesting article and I would love to hear from the authors about how they would reframe the takeaways as lessons learned from the Pandemic - How things we have learned about continuing care facilities can help inform guidelines in case of future infectious disease. I wondered about some of the terminology used. For example, "in old people's and nursing homes;" in Canada, we refer to these as continuing care facilities. Similarly, "... violates the basic rights of the weakest in society" I would refer to this population as vulnerable instead of weakest. Finally, I wonder what role did nurses play in navigating non-employee carers (nurses would likely have served as intermediaries and this relationship may have changed to follow COVID 19 rules). Was this shut down in COVID and how did nurses navigate this if it was or was not shut down.