

Review of: "Analytical Study and Amelioration of Plastic Pavement Material Quality"

Majid Mehrabi-Mazidi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The evaluation of the potential of post-consumer waste plastics in applications such as pavements and roads is being considered by several countries, and some levels of success have been achieved in this regard. However, the types of raw materials and the formulations used differ in different areas. I think the present research is well-conducted, and the results are convincing. Thus, the paper can be accepted for publication.