

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Glucose Transport Inhibition

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Glucose Transport Inhibition. NCI Thesaurus. Code C40812.

Glucose Transport Inhibition involves interference with, or restraint of, subcellular or molecular processes directly involved in the physical translocation from one site or compartment to another (typically, extracellular to intracellular) of the simple C₆H₁₂O₆ monosaccharide, glucose, that acts as an energy source for cells.