The review article with title “ Unravelling the Phytochemical and Pharmacognosy Contour of Traditional Medicinal Plant: Pterocarpus Marsupium Roxb” has been very well composed and written in standard scientific english language. The article has covered all the necessary aspects of study pertaining to the medicinal plant Pterocarpus Marsupium Roxb. The most important thing is that authors have put their efforts to provide a comprehensive and concise description of botanical and taxonomic aspects. Pharmacological activities enlisted in this article give a sufficient knowledge to the readers about all the methodologies adopted in performing those activities. I appreciate this review and I am pleased to endorse the publication of this valuable scientific work.
