

Review of: "Knowledge, Practices and Attitude of Residents towards Buruli Ulcer in Jasikan Municipality: An Ethnographic Study"

Sarah T Omran¹

¹ University of Basrah

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

thank you for making me a reviewer for this article, i appreciate that.

1. dear author the country where the study done should be involved clearly, it was not clear to me where jasikan is located.

2. dear author, do you think that 20 participants are enough to make a decision about the knowledge, attitude and practice of people living in Jasikan towards buruli ulcer?

3. dear author I think the introduction part is too short and it was not clear if it contains any simple information about the pathophysiology, mode of transmitting of the disease or the correct way of management.

4. dear author, I wonder why you don't use social media as a device to spread your questionnaire and collection the answers via a procreated google form. in my opinion it will be a better way to avoid bias and gain more participants.

5. in the inclusion and exclusion criteria, why you exclude the cases with serious wounds?

and why you include participants with an age less than 18 and consider them as a source of information?

6. dear author, in my opinion references are important and both introduction and discussion parts were lacking the enough number of information i appreciate your work with best regards.