

Review of: "Assessing students' attitudes and perceptions towards statistical literacy in a university system in a developing African country"

Huyen Ngo¹

¹ Ho Chi Minh City University of Social Sciences and Humanities

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The subject of the article is compelling, as there is a lack of knowledge about statistical capacity, especially in developing countries. The content is strategically formatted and articulated for smooth comprehension. A more thorough explanation of the study's limitations from the author would have been beneficial. The author does make note of the study's importance in the context of other developing countries, but elaborating on this point would greatly enhance the usefulness of the information.