Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The entire manuscript needs improvement, in terms of more updated citations, justifications based on logic and previous literature behind the relationships between the variables of the study.
2. Kindly go through some indexed journals' articles to see how they write a manuscript. The introduction segment is a good effort. However, it requires improvement.
3. Similarity between the conceptual framework of this manuscript and the previous research is quite high. This, in turn, has reduced the significance and contribution of the current manuscript.
4. The author should justify as to why he selected a multidimensional scale for Perceived Social Support, when he studied it as a unidimensional construct.
5. Given the high similarity between the conceptual model of this manuscript and the previous research, implications may remain insignificant.
6. Kindly go through some indexed articles to learn how the in-text citations and references are written. Referencing is completely wrong.
