

Review of: "Impact of Environmental Education on the Knowledge and Attitude of University of Benin Students towards Waste Segregation"

Sergio Nogales-Delgado¹

¹ Universidad de Extremadura

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article is quite interesting, as it could contribute to the global knowledge about environmental education and its impact on students. In this case, this is a thorough and specific case in University of Benin. Having said that, I have some recommendations for the authors, like the following:

Keywords: There are few keywords, I would add some more, and I would replace terms already included in the title, such as "waste segregation". The reason is simple: You can increase the impact on search engines.

Introduction: It is well structured and thorough, focused on developing areas, which is important in this kind of articles. As a suggestion, I would pay attention to connect the main ideas of the explained articles in this section.

Purpose of this study: It would be interesting to extend the purpose of this study, adding other "less important" objectives of this work.

Conclusion section: It should be extended, as it seems a brief description of some results. At this point, we need global ideas inferred from these results.