

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Tarsal kink syndrome

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Tarsal kink syndrome. ORPHA:99170

Tarsal kink syndrome is a rare congenital malformation of the tarsus that causes entropion characterized by blepharospasm and absence of an upper eyelid fold that may lead to corneal ulceration caused by the folded edge of the upper tarsus or the inturned eyelashes if not corrected by surgery.