The idea of this article makes sense, and it is full of humanistic care. I saw the first versions of the article, and it still can be strengthened in the following:

1. The order of the sections, Literature Review seems to be more appropriate before Methodology.
2. Flow chart can be added to the Methodology, because the methods used in the article are diversified, and the flow chart can be used to understand how these methods were used.
3. In the Discussion and Findings section, some of the suggestions put forward do not have relevant current situation.

After seeing the second version, the article was better, but the first suggestion also need to pay attention.
