A lot of changes are needed in the references that the author has used. Please pay attention to the paragraphs that cited references from year 1996 to 2000s, are they really needed? Can the author change the references to the most recent ones? If possible please change the older references to the more recent ones (except if they all the references are really needed since there is no more recent version of the books)

Since there are control and experimental groups, normality and homogeneity tests for both groups must be done and also explained.

Lastly for both instruments used to measure students' knowledge and instruments used to measure students' attitudes, expert validation alone is not enough, there must still be validity and reliability tests.
