

Review of: "Redefining borders in the contested territory between San Pedro and San Andres Cholula"

José Alexander Chavez Hernandez

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It's an interest approach for identifying issues in the cities.

The figures should improve to show the main geographic monuments like Cerro Zapotecas, Acozac hill. Are there any rivers or ravines? What is the agriculture linked or principal product? Explanation of topography.

Is it possible to show historical growth/evolution of cities. Are there any floating population moving from both cities?

Figures 4 and 6 are empty maps, they could be improved introducing more information for example streets, morphology, population, names of barrios or places etc.

The title say that is redefining borders but is not clear how the research helped in this matter but they do identify the problems or areas of concern.
