First of all, thank you for inviting me to review this research. I believe this research contributes to the study of a topic that is relevant and timely at the university level. In addition, it provides a well-founded theoretical structure.

However, I would like to make some suggestions. The data on hate crimes could be more current, so that the need and timeliness of addressing this issue becomes apparent. It would also be necessary to include some evidence on the reliability and validity of both the instruments and the data collection strategies used. Finally, I would go into much more depth in the discussion section, as well as the implications of the results obtained. I believe that this aspect is more susceptible to improvement.
