This is a valuable article that needs to be published. However, there are a few things that need to be improved:

1. In the method section of the abstract, it is necessary to add details about the research subject (how many people and their backgrounds).
2. In the method section, it is necessary to explain how the researcher guarantees the trustworthiness.
3. In the method section, it is also necessary to write about the validity and reliability of the method used.
4. In the method section, it is necessary to add a table that informs about the informants, the number, and the data collection techniques carried out (In-depth interview, FGD, etc.).
5. In the result section, the author should be able to create a table/schema/mindmap from the results of the thematic analysis so that it is easy to understand.
6. In the discussion section, it is necessary to add how the role of socioculture affects parenting education. Authors must be able to show unique results that will be highlighted, for example, each role of parents, husbands, or hospitals that may not be synergistic.
7. In the recommendation section, the author does not explicitly mention who and what the suggestion is.

Thank you.
