Thank you for allowing me to review the study titled "Sharing Economy Practices in Changing Business Environment: Transaction Cost, Resource-Linking, and Hypercompetition Perspectives."

Dear Author,

This study is interesting in examining the shifts in business caused by technology. Here are some suggestions to improve the paper's quality:

1. The paper discusses issues or phenomena that are relatively outdated. The review presents issues from 2016, which is seven years ago. Many other researchers may have already addressed the same issues, making it hard to ignore.
2. Various economic policies have changed, especially after the pandemic. Therefore, the cases discussed in this paper are no longer relevant.
3. Scholarly work should have a strong methodology, but this research lacks a clear methodology.
4. The research does not appear to provide significant theoretical or practical contributions.
5. There is no adequate conclusion and future recommendations.

In conclusion, I suggest that the author restructures the study, taking into consideration the research already conducted by other scholars, given that the case being discussed is quite dated.
