Review of: "Digital Literacy in People with Disabilities: An Overview and Narrative Review"

Huyen Ngo[1]

1 Ho Chi Minh City University of Social Sciences and Humanities

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article delves into compelling information and research findings regarding the digital literacy of people with disabilities. Providing more information in the methods section on how to effectively search for relevant literature and obtain an adequate number of samples for analysis would enhance the article's usefulness to readers.