

Review of: "Expectation of Life at Birth by Sex and Area of Residence in India and Bigger States/UT's (2013-2017): A Review"

Nooshin Rashti Mohammad<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Tehran

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The introduction lacks depth, with insufficient references and a failure to incorporate recent papers.

The paper is deficient in terms of literature coverage.

The paper focuses solely on the data source, neglecting crucial details such as descriptive statistics for the sample. Additionally, it lacks information on the regression model, variables, and fails to explain the econometrics method used.

Consider organizing the paper by creating a dedicated "Data" section for information on the dataset, and a separate "Methodology" section to detail the regression model, variables, and econometrics methods. This will enhance clarity and structure.

The sole table in the draft is unclear regarding the 5-year trend due to a lack of year labels, making it challenging to discern. Furthermore, only three years are compared, introducing ambiguity.