

Review of: "[Commentary] Explaining Hamas Attack of October 7"

Mohammed Arandas

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This study focused on explaining the Hamas attack of October 7. However, the possible reasons for the attack require more elaboration and examination through the use of proper methods. The article lacks coherence and requires a proper framework to meet its objectives. The outcomes of this study should be linked to the frameworks used in the discussion part. Besides, the implication of using game theoretical thinking with Dray's approach should be stated clearly. The article would be better if it included a more analytical perspective rather than a descriptive perspective, especially regarding data collection.