

Review of: "Influence of Institutional Factors on Job Satisfaction among Nurses at a Regional Hospital, Ghana"

Sridevi Nair¹

¹ Christ University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is well written and the methodology used is appropriate. I would like to understand the gap that the authors have identified and are trying to fill with their study. The need for the study needs to be clearly defined. The variables of the study have been studied and sufficient literature exists regarding the same. What would make this study interesting is if a unique gap is identified by the authors.