1. In this paper, the authors specifically study "From M-Score to F-Score: Moderating the Relationship between Earnings Management and Stock Performance." The research results have several reference values for related fields. Meanwhile, for papers, the purpose and importance of this research are clearly stated. I think the overall quality of the paper is good. However, enrichment of the literature must be accompanied by updating the literature because there is still a lot of literature used in this paper that is more than 10 years old.
2. Research Questions: The hypothesis development in this paper is not based on previous research. Therefore, before proposing a hypothesis, please first reveal several studies related to this research, so that the gaps in this research can be seen, and it is hoped that the results of this research can cover these gaps or find something new.
