

Review of: "Impact of Environmental Education on the Knowledge and Attitude of University of Benin Students towards Waste Segregation"

Shamima Raihan Manzoor<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Multimedia University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of this paper regarding environmental education attempts to emphasize the significance of important constructs impacting the attitude and behavior among university students toward waste segregation. However, the following changes/additions can make the paper more appropriate and appealing.

1. A small note is required on the elaborate form of the HKS department.
2. I would suggest clarifying the current gaps in the literature regarding environmental education among university students.
3. The background study such as Nigeria's situation regarding solid waste management and literature review part should incorporate recent research article information.
4. The significance of using TPB to achieve the overall objective of this study must be justified.
5. The Research Methodology section should justify the reason for choosing Benin University students to conduct this research. The use of sampling techniques should be consistent. Either random or purposive sampling would be appropriate for this study. The author/s should also clarify how instrument validity was ensured. The inclusion of pilot testing would make more sense in this regard. The sampling size should be justified. Besides, how the authors obtained the ethical clearance for data collection needs to be explicitly outlined based on the university policy.
6. The author/s can elaborate on the theoretical and managerial implications of this study.
7. The study should outline the limitations and future directions at the end.
8. The recommendations need to be revised according to the convention of research articles.