

Review of: "Enhancing Soil Stabilization in Soft Soils Through The Addition of Sand to Soil-Cement Piles: a Comprehensive Study"

W. W. El-Nadoury

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper addresses a valuable topic and raises interesting questions. However, the structure of the paper should be revised.

The introduction section (which I think is the literature review) doesn't include any references.

The methodology and the experimental work sections are not clearly structured.

The results section does not include comparison with previous researchers.

The abstract section should include clear information (numbers, percentages, ...) for improvements.